

Coinme Expands Cash Network, Adding Over 22,000 ATMs For Instant Cash Pick Up
Coinme Catapults to Become the Largest Cryptocurrency Cash Network in the World with Over 40,000 Physical Locations to Instantly Buy or Sell Crypto Using Cash

SEATTLE - March 8, 2023 - Coinme, a leading cryptocurrency cash exchange in the U.S., added over 22,000 ATMs to its cash network which are now live via their API-driven Coinme-as-a-Service (CaaS) offering. The new service allows for the instant sale of crypto via the Coinme app for physical cash pick up at participating locations across name-brand retailer locations, including some of the largest grocery, pharmacy and convenience stores in the U.S.

“Cash is still an integral part of the economy and the primary way people purchase everyday goods and services. Enabling instant crypto-to-cash services increases the utility of crypto for the entire ecosystem,” said Neil Bergquist, co-founder and CEO of Coinme. “Adding 22,000 participating ATMs to our network makes the digital currency ecosystem more inclusive for all. Our integration allows us to provide a ‘bank-like’ transaction experience for everyone who holds crypto, and we’re enabling such an experience at more ATM locations than even the country’s largest banks.”

Next, choose the amount of crypto you want to sell in $20 increments (up to $400 per transaction and $2,000 per day, limits vary by location). A cash code will be issued when the sale transaction is completed in the Coinme app. Then, simply visit the nearest participating ATM, easily found using the locator in the Coinme app, and enter your phone number and cash code at the ATM to collect your cash.
